

20 OCTOBER 2023: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

Dear Parents and Carers,

As we approach the end of a remarkably busy half-term, there is no doubt that the children are ready for a break. They have covered a great deal of ground both in and out of the classroom. Equally importantly, they have engaged readily with the idea of making good choices in all aspects of school life. Furthermore, I am convinced that the staff are equally ready for a break and I take this opportunity to thank them for their professionalism and dedication over the past two months. Finally, I am sure that you will also be looking forward to having your children with you over the next two weeks, but I am mindful that there may be times during a cold wet and dark October half-term when you might need some support or distraction. With this in mind, I warmly invite you and your children to enter the Truro School Prep Half-Term Puzzle-time Competition. The competition is based on the phrases known as Tom Swifties.

The name comes from the Tom Swift series of books, similar in many ways to the better-known Hardy Boys and Nancy Drew series. In this series, the young scientist hero underwent adventures involving rocket ships, ray guns and other inventions.

A stylistic idiosyncrasy was that the author, "Victor Appleton," went to great trouble to avoid repetition of the unadorned word "said". Since many adverbs end in "ly" this kind of pun was originally called a Tom Swiftly, the archetypal example being, "We must hurry,' said Tom swiftly."

At some point, this kind of humour was called a Tom Swifty, and that name is now more common. Tom Swifty examples include:

- "I need a pencil sharpener," said Tom bluntly.
- "I love hot dogs," said Tom with relish.
- "I might as well be dead," Tom croaked.
- "We just struck oil!" Tom gushed.
- "It's freezing," Tom muttered icily.
- "I have no flowers," Tom said, lackadaisically.
- "I'd like my money back, and some," said Tom with interest.
- "I dropped my toothpaste," Tom said, crestfallen.
- "Careful with that chainsaw," Tom said, offhandedly.
- "My therapist told me I suffer from multiple personality disorder," said Tom being frank.

For the record, they do not have to feature Tom:

- "Do you write fairy tales as well?" asked the brothers grimly.
- "I wonder if this radium is radioactive?" asked Marie curiously.
- "The Battle of the Nile? A lot of fun!" said Lord Nelson disarmingly.

And my current favourite is:

"You call this a musical?" said Les miserably.

So, should you and your children find yourself with a little time on your hands, on a dark wet afternoon or on a monotonous car journey, I challenge you to produce your own versions of Tom Swifties. Please send your answers by email to prephead@truroschoo.com or via your children upon their return from the break (and by Friday 10th November at the latest). Prizes will be awarded for the funniest, cleverest and most obscure.

Good luck to you all and I wish you all a lovely half-term holiday with your super children.

With every good wish,

Mr Rob Morse

20 OCTOBER 2023: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

A Juicy Adventure at Healeys Cyder Farm

From seed to bottle, our Nursery pupils learned all about apple juice production while visiting Healeys Cyder Farm. They began their experience with a special tour led by Joe Healey before a bumpy tractor ride to see the farm's orchard, where the apples begin their journey to juice.

The children also enjoyed visiting the farm's animals, including Mocha, the very friendly Pygmy goat, and Dancer, the shire horse. As the weather turned, they ventured to the rattler bar for an apple juice label-making competition. There were lots of wonderful designs that they put on their very own bottle of apple juice.

A huge thank you to Joe and Bella Healey for showing us around the farm; the children had a wonderful time learning about all things apple!

Quiz and Movie Night at Prep

The Assembly Hall was full of noise and laughter as this term's Friends of Truro School (FTS) Pasty and Quiz event got underway last Friday.

While younger children were treated to popcorn and movies in the classrooms, the quiz tested even the brightest of brains in the Assembly Hall. With fiendishly tricky rounds including music, trivia and guessing the staff member from baby photos, it was a hotly contested and highly enjoyable quiz.

The quiz and movie night is just one of a number of fantastic FTS events being held this term. We look forward to sharing more from the forthcoming Prep Coffee Morning, FTS AGM and Christmas Pudding Making Evening with you soon. If you are interested in hearing more about these events, please email FTS@truroschool.com.

A huge thanks to everyone who made Friday's evening such a success and special thanks to our brilliant FTS team and all of the staff involved in bringing the event to life.

A Twit-Tastic Morning

Wormy spaghetti, messy beards, and a visit from Mrs Twit could only mean one thing; a Roald Dahl lesson takeover. Year 3 enjoyed an immersive morning of The Twits themed activities as part of their English project on the book.

The pupils created messy beards using a range of materials, as well as making wormy spaghetti straight from Mrs Twit's kitchen, before enjoying a visit from Mrs Twit herself.

The Positive World of Light

*'It glows, it sparkles, it twinkles and shines;
without it, all's dark, no visible signs of colour, beauty or wonderful sights.
Have you guessed it yet? I'm talking of light!'*

Immersing our youngest learners in the positive world of light, Pre-Prep pupils gathered for a vibrant light party. With creativity in full bloom, pupils crafted lanterns and light necklaces, and enjoyed wearing their glow-in-the-dark bracelets whilst dancing to the light. The light party doubled as both an educational and enriching wellbeing experience, allowing pupils to explore the mysteries of light in a fun and spiritual way.

Inspiring Art and Writing in St Ives

Our lucky Year 6 pupils travelled to St Ives to immerse themselves in inspirational art and scenery for a combined literacy and art trip.

The pupils split into three groups, which rotated across three locations; Porthmeor Beach, the Tate St Ives and the Barbara Hepworth Museum.

Porthmeor Beach is famous for inspiring artists and was the perfect setting for some sand sculptures. Pupils were also encouraged to capture sights, sounds and feelings to inspire their writing on their return to school.

The Tate St Ives is home to collections from Cornwall and around the world. Featured artists include Alfred Wallis, Marlow Moss and Barbara Hepworth.

Focussing more on the sculptures of Barbara Hepworth, our pupils considered how the artist used a wide array of inspiration to move between landscape, figure drawing and still life, combining different techniques, media and styles. Barbara Hepworth was the first sculptor to use holes in her work, promoting the idea that holes can be points of connection. Certainly, our students enjoyed exploring these connections for themselves.

The tour of the Hepworth Museum and Sculpture Garden, the former home and studios of Barbara Hepworth, offers a fabulous insight into the artist's life and sculptures. Our children were delighted to walk in the gardens that inspired much of her work.

It was a fabulous day and a fantastic opportunity for hands-on learning and experiences. Our children were a credit to the school and staff received many compliments on their behaviour during their visit.

Thanks to all of the staff who helped on the day, with special thanks to Ms Cadwallader and Miss Ashdown.

Year 5 Netball

On Wednesday the Year 5 girls travelled to Truro High for their first netball game of the season. It was a lovely sight to see over 30 girls playing netball, challenging themselves to play new positions whilst developing their knowledge of the game.

The teamwork and positive attitude displayed by all the girls were a joy to watch, the ball was passed down the court with fluency and control and scoring opportunities were celebrated by everyone. Tilda and Cora were both named players of the match by Truro High but all the girls should be proud of how they played and the developments they made.

Judo Trophy International Cup 2023

Congratulations to Niamh, Rupert and Charlie who took part in the Trophy International Cup (Judo) last weekend.

Rupert did well and gained a silver medal, while Charlie secured a well-earned Bronze.

Well done all three of our Prep Pupils; they were fighting at the U12 level, meaning that they were giving away a few years in age.
