

13 SEPTEMBER 2024: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

Dear Parents, Guardians, Carers,

Life at Truro School has got into full swing now as we finish the first full week of the academic year. There has been a very calm yet also energetic sense of purpose around the campus. Our new pupils and boarding pupils have been settling in brilliantly and showing their value to our community. Fixtures, performances, exhibitions and rehearsals for Chicago are already underway!

Most pupils will now have had most of their academic lessons and will be getting to know new subjects, curriculum and teachers. September in schools is always a time of opportunity as everyone – pupils and staff alike – have the opportunity to reset; thinking about what went well last year (and therefore what to keep doing!) and what they would like to do differently this year. As always, pupils communicating well with teachers is key – and finding the right balance between asking for help and independent challenge.

At the start of term assembly, I reminded pupils that the pastoral care system at our School belongs to every pupil. Tutors, Heads of Year, the Safeguarding Team (myself, Miss Mitchell, Mr Copeland and Mr McKeown), the Chaplain and all members of staff are here to support pupils with any concerns they may have about themselves or others. Our counselling team led by Mel Corden-Lloyd is also available to all pupils and over the last year we have been able to shorten waiting times for counselling and increase capacity. Please do let your child's tutor or Head of Year know if you think we may be able to help.

You may have seen that I have written to all parents today about the School's approach to smartphones. The letter explains current policy and the direction of travel in this challenging area, please do take a look. I would be delighted to receive feedback and comments by Monday 23 September, so they can feed into our planning.

I wish you a happy and restful weekend ahead – hopefully not the last "summery" weekend of the year!

Mr Rob Murphy
Deputy Head Pastoral

13 SEPTEMBER 2024: TRURO SCHOOL NEWS AND UPDATES

New Head Girl and Head Boy Team

It is a pleasure to introduce and welcome the new 24-25 Head Girl and Head Boy team, Elowyn, Finlay, Megan, and Pax.

While deputies, Pax and Megan prepared speeches for the Lower Sixth Information Evening, we had the opportunity to sit down with Elowyn and Finlay, who shared their personal journeys and exciting aspirations for their new leadership roles.

Both Elowyn and Finlay expressed feeling a mix of excitement and apprehension about the year ahead. Elowyn said that during her 4th and 5th Years she was inspired by previous Head Girls, Soumya and Tara, who served as fantastic role models. Similarly, Finlay drew inspiration from former Head Boys, Ollie and Oliver whom he met through choir, noting that they seemed to embody their roles perfectly.

Finlay's journey at Truro School began in Year 7 as a chorister, and he has continued to thrive within the school community, "I feel it is a lovely community here, and all my friends were already here. It feels very tight and close-knit, especially in the Sixth Form."

Finlay is currently studying English, Music, Maths, and Further Maths at A-Level and plans to take a gap year next year to pursue a music scholarship at Sherborne. Many will recognise his musical talents as an active member of the Truro School Chamber Choir, St Mary's Singers, and the Cathedral Choir, in addition to playing the piano, double bass, and tuba.

Elowyn's connection with Truro School began in Prep, "In fact, I started swimming at Truro School as a baby. I don't really know anything else and have never wanted to change it. I always felt I had friends here, I am doing what I want to do, and it just feels like the right place to be." She is studying Biology, Chemistry, Maths, and her Extended Project Qualification (EPQ), with an interest in international relations she will focus on North and South Korea for her EPQ project.

Regarding their plans and projects for the year, both Elowyn and Finlay are eager to dive into initiatives. Elowyn has a specific project in mind, "It's about the bins. People don't realise that one piece of unrecyclable rubbish mixed with recyclable waste can render the entire recycling unusable." She aims to redesign the bins and signage to provide clearer information on waste disposal. Finlay is also interested in exploring ideas around inclusivity. These initiatives could significantly contribute to creating a more sustainable and forward-thinking school environment during this year of creativity.

As role models for younger pupils, the entire team are committed to being the leading voices for the School Council, which includes two representatives from each year group to propose changes within the School. They aspire to make participation in the School Council enjoyable and aspirational for all year groups, facilitating meaningful change.

The Head Girl and Boy team meets with the Head every Thursday for breakfast, providing an opportunity to discuss ideas raised by the School Council and develop actionable solutions. This dynamic team already has several key initiatives in their sights, and we have every confidence in their ability to effect positive change.

2023-24 Terraces Magazine

We are excited to present to you the 2023-24 edition of Terraces Magazine. In it we reflect on another successful year at Truro School, and extend our heartfelt thanks to the parents, carers, governors, staff, and leadership team whose dedication and support have been integral to its success.

In an effort to reduce our environmental impact and support sustainability, we will no longer be automatically distributing printed copies of our school magazine to all parents. Instead, parents can request a copy via the link below before Thursday 19 September. We appreciate your support in this initiative. Read online or request a copy here > <https://www.truroschoo.com/latest-news/2023-24-terraces-magazine-out-now/>

New Deputy Chairs Appointed

Truro School's governing body is delighted to announce the appointment of two new Deputy Chairs, Martin Ayliffe and Richard Raistrick. Chair of Governors, Richard Thomas, welcomed the appointments and said, "Martin and Richard are vital members of the Governing body and bring a wealth of expertise. To have them both as Vice Chairs demonstrates the commitment of volunteers to the school and shows the strength in depth of the Board of Governance. I have been very lucky to have had Liz Garner and Nigel Ashcroft as deputies in the last four years, and I know that Martin and Richard will operate with the same dedication and expertise."

Sharing Stories with 1st Years

This week, our new 1st Years received valuable insights from 2nd Year pupils and Deputy Heads, Pax and Elowyn.

The group shared their personal experiences, offering practical tips and advice to help the newcomers settle in smoothly. Reflecting on their own 1st Year journeys, they provided encouragement and useful guidance, aimed at helping the new pupils feel more at ease as they embark on their Truro School adventure.

In the Firing Line in Taskmaster Club

Pupils were given a tricky challenge to master in this week's Taskmaster Club. Run by Mrs Chanter, this exciting STEM club that runs every Thursday afternoon is a part of our rich co-curricular clubs and activities programme that we offer at Truro School.

Our pupils had a box of components and were tasked to create a mechanism that established an automatic process. This process would allow balloons and pins to come together to create a 'rifle' that would fire intermittently. Gunning for success, it was an exciting and fulfilling activity for all. <https://www.truroschoo.com/latest-news/in-the-firing-line-in-taskmaster-club/>

Chats about Urban Planning

Sixth Form geography students were in for a treat yesterday when former pupil, Ashley Faulds (CO23) popped in to talk to students about his degree course in Urban Studies and Planning at Sheffield University.

Ashley, a dedicated geography student during his time at Truro School, was warmly welcomed back by Mrs. Wormald to engage in A-Level lessons and talk to students about potential study and career paths post A-Level.

Ashley's visit provided valuable insights into his academic journey and as an informative session for Sixth Formers contemplating similar career pathways.

1st Year Netball Skills

Netball skills were in the spotlight this week with our 1st Year girls taking part in their very first games lesson of the year. With a wide range of experience and skills, the players practised their passing, marking and shooting techniques in small groups.

Lots of fixtures have been set up for the coming term, and the girls were reminded about netball practice held on Tuesday lunchtimes to continue working on their skills and to sign up for the teams. Netball training in games lessons will continue until half term when it switches to hockey.
